

WENDY DAHL

TECHNICAL REQUIREMENTS

- Wireless clip-on microphone
- Video projector and screen - 16x9 format (widescreen)
- HDMI connection from Wendy's laptop to projector
- Power supply for the laptop

Wendy prefers to run her Keynote presentations from her own MacBook using an HDMI output. Her slides must not be embedded into another slide master or conference slide deck.

If sound output or external video is required, she will confirm with you. Please let her know when you need this by.

Wendy uses her own wireless slide advancer and is happy to use her own or your A/V team's equipment. Please let her know your preference ahead of time.

To test the playback of her presentation, Wendy prefers a 15-30 minute session with the A/V team immediately prior to the session, prior to the audience entering the event space.

Wendy prefers to stand center stage with NO podium during the keynote. If a podium is being used for other speakers, please have it moved to the side of the stage for her presentation. If a different stage configuration is planned (like speaking in the round, runway, etc.) please let her know in advance.

The screen(s) should be placed on one or both sides of the stage allowing for movement during the presentation without obstructing the screens. It is also OK to position the screen 12' above the top of the riser, so Wendy can walk the full length of the stage beneath it.

A courtesy monitor and clock is always a good idea, but not necessary.

Video recording of her keynotes is permitted only by prior agreement. Such recording is not available for sale or distribution except by prior agreement
